CANADIAN DEFENDS STAND OF DRYS

RANEY CLAIMS SALE OF BEER 'FLAT FAILURE'

Former Attorney General of Ontario Tells Senate Committee Government Handling of Light Beer Brought Intemperance and Crime.

ANDREWS BACKED BY MELLON.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The treasury let it be thoroughly understood today that attacks on General Andrews will fall on deaf ears and that Secretary Mellon will stand behind the prohibition chief no matter from what quarter he might be criticised for his recent testimony before the senate committee.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(I. N. S.)—Government sale of light beer, as suggested by Lincoln C. Andrews, dry "czar," and urged by the wets as an aid to prohibition enforcement has proved a "flat failure" in the Canadian province of Ontario, William E. Raney of Toronto, attorney general of Ontario from 1919 to 1923, testified today before the senate prohibition committee.

The experiment was tried out in Ontario, Raney said, and "the whole thing fell flat." The beer failed to satisfy either the beer drinkers or whisky drinkers, although it was 4.4 per cent, and caused an increase of intemperance, immorality and crime, Raney declared.

One noticeable result of the Ontario government control law, Raney said, was the "heavy exportations to the United States." He also told of "bootlegging from the United States of hard liquors."

"The report of the government liquor board shows an increasing number of bootlegging cases," said Raney, "and of the increasing difficulty in suppressing it."

"Those who wished to drink beer protested that there wasn't enough kick in the light beer," Raney declared. "It also has been found that those who took out licenses to sell his beer were using their places as shields to sell stronger liquors.

Saloons by Another Name.

"Your labor representatives here ask for beer but not the return of saloons. That was our situation and the beer gardens became saloons by another name.

"There is no prohibition of the manufacture of liquors in Ontario, so we have a large number of distilleries and an even greater number of brewers. They make it difficult to enforce the law."

Questioned by Senator Reed, democrat, of Missouri, Raney said beer and wines could be manufactured by individuals for home use under Ontario's old prohibition law. The wine could be sold, too, he said, in five gallon quantities.

"Under that law you could enforce prohibition could you?" asked Reed.

"Yes, the people thought the law was being satisfactorily enforced but it didn't stamp out all the sales of hard liquor," said Raney.

Raney said all the other Canadian provinces at one time had a similar prohibition law.

"Now that sort of prohibition has been repealed by the people?" he was asked.

"Yes, in five provinces."

Raney said the population of the provinces, including Ontario, which did not repeal prohibition, was 3,000,000, while the provinces which repealed prohibition had 6,000,000 population.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(AP)—Secretary Kellogg, as mediator in the Tacna-Arica disput has made alternative suggestions to Chile and Peru for the neutralization of the two provinces or for their transfer to "a South American state not a party to these negotiations" upon equitable compensation.

The secretary's proposals were announced in a statement issued today at the state department which said "as neither party is willing to surrender the territory in question to the other and as the proposal for a division of the territory between them has been rejected, the remaining opportunity for a solution of the long standing controversy would appear to be found in one of the suggestions above made or in a modification thereof, if such is deemed advisable.

FOREST, PRAIRIE BLAZES CHECKED

CHICAGO, April 17. — (By the Associated Press.) — The first crop of spring forest and prairie fires in three widely separated areas of the country generally was under control today, although continuing high winds in some districts carried threats of fanning the flames anew

Fires which swept large forest areas near Plymouth, Mass., have been checked and most of the prairie and grass fires in Minnesota and the Dakotas have been extinguished, but rangers still were fighting flames in the Kootenai national forest in western Montana and Idaho.

Three lives were lost in Minnesota and North Dakota with the loss in that territory estimated between half a million and one million dollars. Eleven farm buildings were burned in Massachusetts.

Reports that the Massachusetts fires were of incendiary origin were under investigation today by state officials. Hundreds of forestry men and firemen had been engaged in a two-day battle on a front which extended from Little South Pond in the direction of Buzzards' bay and Wareham before the fires were checked. Five separate fires started within a small radius on the Plymouth-Middleboro turnpike.

Although many fires still were smouldering in the central northwest, it was believed that they offered no further menace.

WOMAN MUST GIVE UP FARM

Supreme Court Holds Promise to Provide Home Does Not Justify Lizzie Olds, Gage County Resident, In Claiming Land.

REFUSE TO INVALIDATE WILL OF R. E. MELLOR

Children Entitled to Life Estate In Property But No More — Decline to Order Sale of Lodge Building.

Ouster judgment by the district court of Gage county, dispossessing Lizzie Olds of a 40-acre farm near Wymore and turning it over to Joseph Tejcka, is affirmed by the Nebraska supreme court commission in a decision rendered Saturday.

The woman claimed title to the land through an agreement with Frank Franken, its former owner, by which she was to keep house for him and in return be furnished with a home. She and Franklen moved upon the place in 1920. Two years later she sued for divorce, claiming to be his common law wife She remained on the farm after he left, and when Tejcka bought it she refused to surrender it.

Heirs Denied Fee Title.

The three children of Robert E Mellor, deceased, of Wayne county, are unsuccessful in their suit to obtain absolute title to lands belonging to their father's estate in which they were given a he interest only. Each of them received 320 acres by deed prior to the parent's death in 1917 and another 320 acres under the will; but all the gifts and bequests were made to run no longer than the natural life of he recipient, after which the property was to go t ohis or her children or other natural heirs.

The commission affirms the district court judgment, which refused to decree full title in the three plaintiffs, William Mellor, Zoe Huffman and Mary Shuitheis.

No Partition of Lodge Property.

Paul Frost, about 9 years old, was discovered at 11:30 Saturday morning in a convulsion near the corner of Nineteenth and Vine streets, according to Dr W H. Slattery, who attended him.

The doctor detected an odor like that of ether on the boy's breath, he said, and believes he drank patent medicine intended for external use or some liquid of a poisonous character Dr. Slattery pumped out his stomach, and said after a half hour's working with him he expected the boy would recover.

The boy lives near Twentieth and Vine street, Dr Slattery said. He was playing with some other children when he became ill Elmer Treadwell, 18, 1940 Vine street, ran across the street and picked the boy up and took him to his home, where Dr Slattery was called.

PLAN TO HANDLE BIG GRAIN CROP

Railroads Returning Cars to Middle Western Territory.

Taylor Comments On Facts Shown at Managers' Meeting.

Railroad managers in this part of the country are looking forward to a big crop of wheat and are beginning to make preparations for handling it Railway Commissioner H. G. Taylor reported upon his return Saturday from the session of the central western regional advisory committee at Denver. Mr. Taylor has been chairman of that body since its organization several years ago.

The harvest will start in southern Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri within two months, and by July 1 will be under way in Nebraska and Iowa. As it takes some time to recall freight equipment from distant points, the carriers deem it expedient to begin building up reserves of cars now, so that no shortage will be experienced in the season of heavy demand.

Nebraska Estimate 70 Million.

A report was read before the committee setting forth that Kansas anticipates a 200,000,000 bushel wheat crop, Oklahoma expects an unusually large crop, and Nebraska's estimate is between 60,000,000 and 70,000,000 bushels.

Donald B. Conn, manager of public relations of the American railway association, assured shippers attending the meeting that a movement will be under way at once to bring grain cars owned by the railroads in this territory back on their lines. The Burlington, he said, had 36,000 freight cars, of which 61.6 per cent are now on the railroad's own

'QUEEN LOUISE' GIVEN ONE YEAR

Hanning, Convicted With Her On Conspiracy Charge, Gets 18 Months.

Pair's Attorney Arranging $5,000 Bond to File An Appeal.

Earl Hanning and Louise ("Queen Louise") Vinciquerra, who was convicted in federal court several weeks ago on a charge of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws, were sentenced Saturday morning by Federal Judge Munger. Hanning was given 18 months in Leavenworth penitentiary and Louise Vinciquerra one year in the Douglas county jail.

Their attorney, Eugene D. O'Sullivan of Omaha immediately filed a notice of appeal and began arranging for bonds for the release of his clients pending the settlement of the appeal. Bonds in the amount of $5,000 are required.

When the jury returned its verdict of guilty, it included a recommendation that the court show some leniency toward Mrs Vinciquerra in passing the sentence. This was believed to have resulted from the attempt on the part of the defendants to show that she did not have any knowledge of the liquor being in the car at the time of their arrest.

The pair was arrested in Lincoln by Federal Agent Karl Schmitt. During the chase the jugs containing the liquor were broken, but Schmitt succeeded in obtaining a bit of the liquor as evidence by mopping it up with his handkerchief as it dripped on the running board of the car.

Mrs. Vinciquerra is under a 60-day sentence from the federal court at Omaha, but the sentence has not been served. Judge Munger questioned her regarding this sentence and the reason for it having not been served. It was explained that because Mrs. Vinciquerra had agreed to become a witness for the government in another liquor case, a sort of agreement had been reached that the case against Mrs. Vinciquerra would be dropped by the government. There is an appeal pending in the case, O'Sullivan said.

Defers Sentence on Balderson.

Judge Munger deferred the passing of a sentence in the case of Erick Balderson, who was convicted on conspiracy with Ira Leupold to violate the national prohibition laws. He said that he wished to wait until some action was taken with regard to Leupold. Leupold is now serving a sentence in the Kansas prison and has not been brought to trial on the liquor charge.

Leon Young and Ben Jones, two alleged Omaha bootleggers who were arrested by state and federal officers and who pleaded guilty to illegal transportation, were fined $350 each by Judge Munger. A Cadillac car was confiscated when the two men were arrested.

Both of them denied that they had the liquor for the purpose of selling it, but Judge Munger said that he had information that a prominent Lincoln citizen had told of buying liquor from them before they were arrested.

"AIR PIRACY" NEW PROBLEM

Government Loses Suit Against Zenith Radio Corporation For Violating License Issued By Secretary of Commerce.

BROADCASTING FUTURE RESTS WITH CONGRESS

Federal Official Believes Must Have New Legislation; Lawyers Say Manufacturers May Now Seize Any Wave Length Desired.

CHICAGO, April 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Radio manufacturers producers and experimenters may now have "air pirates" to battle for wave lengths—as a result of yesterday's Federal court decision in the case of the government against the Zenith Radio corporation and its president, E. F. McDonald, jr.

The defendants won the decision in their suit to test the discriminatory powers of the secretary of commerce to regulate station WJAZ to a wave length and certain number of hours as set forth in the license issued to them. While guilty of violating a regulation of the secretary of commerce, Federal Judge Wilkerson said the defendants were not guilty of any criminal act as charged by the government

Other classes of broadcasters as described in the wireless act of 1912—the only laws existing—are specifically prohibited from usurping wave lengths, but attorneys here who followed the case closely say

SAYS SALT CREEK PLANS EXCELLENT

Dayton Expert Declares Sanitary District Engineers Have Done Well.

Believes Expenditures Logical; Nothing Started That Must Be Undone.

The sanitary district board here has made an excellent start towards caring for the future storm water problem that will confront Lincoln, Charles H. Paul, drainage expert of Dayton, Ohio, told a group of engineers and the district board at a luncheon at the chamber of commerce Saturday noon

"You have been logical in your expenditure of money," Mr Paul said, "In the necessarily hurried survey I have made and from the records available, I can see that none of your funds have been wasted and that you have been working along the right lines. There is nothing so far as I can see that will have to be undone."

Mr Paul was called to Lincoln by the sanitary board and made the survey Friday and Saturday at the suggestion of that body and the sanitary survey committee of the chamber of commerce

Friday, accompanied by Frank Darlow, Prof Mickey, W C Frampton and Mr. Scott, he inspected salt creek, starting at a point south of the state's prison and going north and east of Havelock. He also went through Woodlawn and Emerald and studied the streams there

Saturday morning, he was accompanied by City Engineer Erickson on a trip that took them north of the city on Fourteenth street

Records of the sanitary district and also of the city were taken on surveys and studied.

Lincoln will never have the conflood conditions to meet that have confronted Dayton, Mr. Paul said, because Lincoln has taken steps in time to prevent such a disaster. Then, too, he added, Salt Creek is not a stream that would carry the volume of water that the Miami river does at Dayton.

One of the conditions confronting a solution of the sanitary and drainage problem here, the speaker said is the lack of storm water records.

The purpose of calling Mr Paul was to get his assistance in working out a definite program for

FIFTH VICTIM OF FEUDS IN CHICAGO

New Murders Push Up Week's Death Toll Among Bootleggers and Holdups.

CHICAGO, April 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—An Italian, believed by the police to be the fourth victim of bootlegging feuds and holdups since Sunday, was shot to death Friday as he was walking through a narrow passageway between two buildings.

Two Italians found dead Thursday in the rear seat of an abandoned automobile were murdered because they had infringed in liquor vending territory controlled by another gang, Capt. John Stege of the detective bureau, said.

They were kidnaped Saturday by four men while making a delivery of alcohol to a saloon and at the point of revolvers were forced to enter an automobile, a witness told the police.

The fourth Italian, identified as one of two men who stole an automobile at Mokena, Ill., and killed a deputy sheriff when pursued, was found dead in a ditch Thursday. The police believe bullets fired by the deputy sheriff were fatal.

The man shot Friday was later identified as John Ciulla, thirty, formerly of Madison, Wis. The police said they had learned that he deserted a girl in Madison several weeks ago and were looking for relatives of this girl in the belief that they had killed the man in revenge.

Another Italian, the fifth to be shot and killed this week, was found slain last night beside the body of his wife who also was shot and probably fatally wounded while in their home. He is Michael Schmidt, 35. The police discarded a theory of an attempted murder and suicide on Schmidt's part because of the nature of the wounds.

Will Receive Bids On License Plates

Bids for 1927 state automobile license plates will be received by State Purchasing Agent Pirie at his office April 28. The estimates for 1927 are 364,750 pair of passenger plates; 37,700 pair of truck plates; 4,000 pair of dealers' plates; 1,800 pair of motorcycle plates, and 1,500 trailer plates.

White figures on a maroon background is the color combination selected for next year's plates. The color scheme is subject to approval by State Engineer Cochran.

Escaped Man's Freedom Ends; Back In Prison

Jack Grant, convict who escaped from the state penitentiary nearly a year ago along with Roy Roberts, was back behind the bars Friday night. Warden Fenton arrived in Lincoln about seven o'clock from Vancouver, Washington, where he went to get Grant after he had been arrested and identified.

Fenton and his prisoner came to Fremont and were met there and brought to Lincoln by automobile. The trip from Vancouver was uneventful, Warden Fenton said. Grant was kept heavily shackled at all times and gave no trouble.

Grant and Roberts made their escape over the walls of the prison during a severe storm on the night of June 25, 1925. Grant told the warden that the two had caught a freight train out of Lincoln that night and went to Omaha. There they parted. Grant went to California and he said he has not seen nor heard of Roberts since they separated in Omaha. In California, Grant says he worked for a time for an oil company and then went to Oregon. From there he went to Vancouver, Washington. He was arrested at Vancouver when he was found drunk in the railroad yards at that place. He had a gun on him at the time and this led to the investigation and his identification.

Warden Fenton visited the prison at Salem while he was in Oregon. He was accompanied by George Dayton on the trip. Mr. Dayton acted as extra guard, relieving the warden at intervals during the return trip.

Grant will be kept in the prison jail for a time as punishment and will then be put to work in the prison. Later a charge of breaking custody will be brought against Grant, the warden said.

Largest Warrant In Two Years Is Issued By State

What is said to be the largest warrant drawn against the state of Nebraska in the last two years was issued Saturday by Auditor Marsh for the sum of $114,821, in payment for a large number of state highway grading and maintaining machines recently purchased for the public works department. The warrant goes to the Badger Equipment Co., whose bid on this equipment was accepted.

Its bill included $131,234 for 76 Fordson maintainer units and $13,587 for 10 Fordson grader units, each capable of being operated by 1 man. Every unit comprises the special machine and a tractor to pull it.

The claim was approved by State Engineer Cochran, Finance Secretary Dalbey, and Governor McMullen, being countersigned also by State Treasurer Robinson and Secretary of State Pool.

Two years ago, the greatest sum of money ever paid out on a single warrant was disbursed for construction work done on the new capitol.

Asks Consent To a Store Building at Thirty-third and D

A. Z. Hanley has asked the city council to amend the zoning "use" map so that he may erect a brick store building at the corner of Thirty-third and D streets, at a cost of $10,000. The request was strengthened by a petition carrying the names of thirteen property owners in the vicinity.

Members of the council were disinclined Saturday noon to sanction the petition. There already is a local business corner at Thirty-third and A, two blocks south, they said, and another farther north. They would be inclined to permit the establishing of a business corner at Thirty-third and Randolph, however.

To make Thirty-third and D a business corner would bring it so close to the one to the south that the first idea of zoning would be nullified, it was declared.

Plan to Remedy Dangerous Place On Sumner Street

Commissioners Gillaspie and Duncan have approved a plan for remedying the dangerous condition of Sumner street at Thirtieth, in Antelope park. They made a trip there Friday evening and decided after a conference with about twenty property owners in the neighborhood to build a new road from Sumner to Garfield and then back to Sumner. The road will be made in a large sweping curve and will pass under the Rock Island track on Garfield street.

Sumner street has a dead end at Thirtieth street where the Traction company tracks bridge a ravine. As soon as the new road is built barricades will be set up so that people cannot cross the bridge as many have been doing, the commissioners said.

CEMETERY MUST PAY $1,250 TAX

Supreme Court Again Rules Against Wyuka Trustees.

By overruling the motion of Wyuka cemetery trustees in the suit from Lancaster county involving inheritance tax on that corporation's $25,000 legacy from the C. H. Rudge estate, the state supreme court declined to change its recent finding that the tax of $1,250 must be paid to the county.

The same action also requires payment of $100 tax by Holy Trinity Episcopal church of Lincoln on a $5,000 bequest it received from the Rudge estate. The church is to get another $25,000 on the death of Mrs. Rudge, and at that time it will become subject to a further tax of $1,250.

Today

The World Court Now. Republicans Know More. Sold-Out Bulls. Better Than Steam.

By Arthur Brisbane.

The people of the United States, with several million plurality that elected President Harding and then elected President Coolidge, do not want the World court.

It has been said in this column repeatedly that adherence to the World court, had it been sugegsted in 1924 or in 1920, would have been rejected by the voters.

Now, in Illinois, the voters defeat the World court proposition, and Senator McKinley by 150,000 votes.

The people are content with United States courts and do not want questions affecting this nation submitted to hostile judges. They do not want to send one judge to sit with ten European judges and be outvoted 10 to 1 by representatives of nations that hate this country and despise it.

If President Coolidge and the rest of the administration were in any doubt about the World court and the attitude of the people toward it, they know more now than they did a week ago.

Senator McKinley, as he says in his pathetic farewell, had been sent to congress for twenty years by the people of Illinois. What he doesn't say is that he consulted a few sentimentalists of his own inclination instead of consulting public opinion when he decided to favor the World court. The vote that retires him to private life was not a vote against him personally. He is an estimable gentleman. It was a vote against the World court attitude.

If you do not need to "keep track of the market," that is, if you are not a "ticker watcher," consider yourself fortunate.

If you are one whose heart goes up and down with the Wall street prices, do not be frightened by individuals known in Wall street as "sold-out bulls."

The "sold-out bull" bought stocks lower, sold them when he thought they had gone to the top, then groaned in anguish when they went still higher. He wants his stocks back at lower prices, and tells the world that panic is coming and everything is going to the dogs.

Don't believe him. We shall have trouble some day perhaps, but as yet our boom hasn't really started.

If the Illinois vote enlightens the republican party, and turns this nation away from the danger of financial drain by European schemers, the United States boom will last a long time.

Everything in this country, if well managed, from cigar stores to oil wells, is worth more than it ever was. There is more money. We are playing in a bigger game.

Three inches in some newspapers, three lines in others, tell about plans for harnessing tides in the Bay of Fundy. Yet that is the most important news since the invention of the steam engine, and destined to be more important to the human race in future ages, than steam ever was.

Chief Engineer Cooper of the great hydro-electric enterprise believes that preliminaries, including consent of Canada and the United States will have been obtained, and construction begun by 1927.

The result will be regular production of 500,000 actual horsepower, with a peak production of from 700,000 to 800,000 horsepower.

The cost will be from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000.

The state of Maine, after using all it wants, will sell power to other states. And as long as the ocean tides are lifted by moon and sun, that plant will add more than half a million to the world's supply of horsepower.

Discovery of 1,000 gold mines, greater than were ever known, would not begin to equal in real value that plant harnessing the high tide on the North Atlantic coast.

A man died leaving letters of advice and guidance to be read by his son at various ages. Wise men have written for the Los Angeles Evening Herald such letters as they would write and leave after death to a son of 10, 15, 21 years of age, etc.

It's a pleasant, sentimental idea. But what you teach your son before you die is a million times more important than any letters you can leave for him.

A voice from the grave receives scant attention in these days.

A sufficient letter from a dead father to his son might read: "I taught you what I could, while I was alive, and tried to set you a good example. Now use your brains and try to honor your father and your mother."

George Campbell Carson, very old miner, was cheated out of a valuable invention by a powerful smelting company. Now the court gives Carson all the profits of the invention which will amount to $20,000,000 or more.

The corporation will pay, but money now cannot make up for the old miner's years of want and worry, which should have been years of comfort.

How much profit is there in $20,000,000 for a man about to leave the earth and money?

Briefly Told News From The Wires

ST. ALBANS, Vt.—(AP)—All April weather records for northern Vermont were broken Friday when a northwest blizzard swept this section after two days of near zero temperature. Friday afternoon the snow continued unabated, driven by a fierce wind. Five feet of snow still covers the ground in many places.

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Advocates of birth control suffered a setback at the convention of the National League of Women Voters which held its first general session today. Delegates from New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Vermont offered a resolution to include birth control study in the year's program of the child welfare committee as a step toward birth control education and legislation, but the resolution was rejected by the committee in executive session.

PEKING—(AP)— The forces of Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian war lord, have not yet attempted to enter the city as it had been generally feared they would and order is being maintained. The main body of the Manchurian army remains at Tunchow. Virtually the entire Kuominchun army had been evacuated to Kalgan by 4 o'clock Friday morning. Tan Chi-Tao is acting commander of the garrison.

WINTER HOLDS IN NORTHEAST

Heavy Blanket Of Snow Covers Several. States.

NEW YORK, April 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Maine, northern Vermont and northern New York today were digging from a snow blanket left by a blizzard that established a new record for the tenacity of winter in the section.

The storm came as the climax of several days of near zero weather and oldest inhabitants are searching their memories for a precedent to match the exchange of roles between January and mid-April. In some places in Vermont drifts are piled five feet deep.

News of two deaths for which the storm was indirectly responsible came from the Canadian border of Maine. At Rockwood station two men boiling maple sap were crushed when the snow-laden roof of a sugar house collapsed.

In the Adirondacks three inches of snow piled in drifts.

One lone sign of spring came with the storm reports. While Auburn, N. Y., was shivering with the unseasonable cold the ice in Oswasco lake staged its annual mysterious disappearance Thursday evening the lake was frozen over solid. Friday morning there was no trace of the ice. Indian legend tells of a huge underground channel through which the ice leaves suddenly at the beginning of spring.

Hawk Learns Pheasant Is a Fighting Bird

That the Nebraska pheasant is a valiant fighting bird and well able to take care of itself when occasion demands is the testimony of C. N. Walton, Ashland banker and president of the Izaak Walton league at that place, after witnessing an encounter which took place between a male pheasant and a hawk which tried to seize it as prey.

Mr. Walton received some of the fowls in a shipment from the chief game warden at Lincoln and turned them loose in an open space near the Platte river. As the pheasants started for an adjacent timber tract, he saw a hawk dart down from above and strike at one of them.

The pheasant met the attack by jumping five or six feet into the air and coming down on top of the hawk. Then the feathers began flying as the two birds mixed it. After a brief but furious battle the hawk, evidently taking most of the punishment, beat a retreat and frew away as fast as its wings would carry it.

Mr. Walton informed Chief Game Warden O'Connell of the incident and expressed his opinion that hawks will hereafter give pheasants a wide berth in that locality.

CASUALTIES OF THE ROAD.

"Careless driving is responsible for 90 per cent of all accidents on the highways," declares the superintendent of public works for the state of New York. Only 5 per cent of all road mishaps are due to mechanical defects and 5 per cent to faulty construction of highways, he estimates.

This constitutes a rather formidable indictment against automobile users, many of whom will be inclined to enter an indignant denial of the charge. But it is not the careful and capable drivers, who use good judgment and take no risky chances in the operation of cars, to whom the New York official refers. His statement is that among those drivers who have accidents they themselves are blamable in 9 cases out of 10.

Is this overdrawing the situation? It is simply another way of saying that if drivers always exercised a proper degree of prudence and caution most accidents that happen would be averted. There are many people who own cars and use the highways constantly who are ready to concur in this diagnosis.

To begin with, a very large proportion of accidents involves drivers themselves and nobody else. Where cars collide, or one bumps into another, there is seldom an instance where at least one of the drivers is not at fault, and sometimes both are. Then there are numerous cases where autos are smashed by trains at railroad crossings. Practically every one of these is the result of failure to stop, look and listen. Fast driving in loose gravel, failure to slow up at turns and intersections, use of glaring headlights at night, and "hogging the road" are a few of the other common offenses which bring a fruitful toll of accidents, deaths and damage to property.

When it comes to accidents involving pedestrians, some motorists may disagree with the New York public works supervisor's claim that bad driving causes nine-tenths of the casualties. They will insist that the streets are full of people on foot who show no judgment whatever and are continually exposing themselves to danger of being run over, either through ignorance of road regulations and customs, or from pure recklessness.

It is true, without a doubt, that there are many "fool pedestrians" continually courting injury or death by stepping in front of moving vehicles. There are also children who do not possess mature judgment, for whom a constant lookout must be kept. But the careful motorist takes these factors into consideration in his driving. He resolves in his own mind that it is better to go slow and not hit anybody than to proceed according to his theoretical rights and trust to luck that somebody will not cross his path at the wrong time.

"The pedestrian has the right of way" is a mighty good rule for drivers to go by. It is a rule which calls for continual sacrifice on the part of the man in the automobile, but if lived up to will save him the regret that he would inevitably feel if some other person should be maimed or killed by his machine, even without fault on his own part.

Car owners cannot get away from the fact that the major share of responsibility for accidents rests upon them. The way to lessen the number of accidents is for drivers to proceed with caution at all times and under all circumstances.

MORE BRITISH LABOR TROUBLE.

On April 30, the subsidy which has been paid to the British coal mine owners since last August expires and no one on earth can tell what will follow. This subsidy enabled the operators to pay the same wage scale that had been in force since 1924 and it is feared that any attempt to reduce any part of that scale will result in a strike of the miners, which would in all probability bring about a sympathetic strike, involving all British labor unions. It was for the purpose of averting such a calamity that the subsidy was originally voted.

A commission which has been studying the coal situation since the subsidy went into effect recently submitted a voluminous report, recommending that the subsidy be discontinued and that it never be repeated. Those who favor facing and settling the controversy once and for all, are pleased with this recommendation, but there is said to be some doubt as to its adoption by the government, at least just at present.

The unions have advocated nationalizing the mines, but this proposal is rejected by the commission, which advocates the purchase by the government of all mineral deposits and the granting of concessions to private enterprises to work them. This, it is estimated, would involve the expenditure of five hundred million dollars.

The commission considers it impossible to continue the 1924 wage scale and says that in some districts reductions are essential. Recommendation is made that some of those receiving the highest wages accept cuts, so that the industry may continue uninterrupted, and here the chief difficulty is expected to arise. It is not thought any reductions will be accepted without trouble. Certain of the contentions of the workers are recognized as just and recommendation is made that they be adopted. The government has agreed to accept the recommendations of the commission and act on them, but the miners have not.

The secretary of the miners' federation has announced that if the settlement of the controversy is not satisfactory and a strike becomes necessary, not a ton of coal will be handled or allowed to enter the country. This of course means a general strike of all industries and untold trouble for Great Britain. Conditions are not the same there as they are in the United States, class distinction and the "one big union" idea being much more marked than in this country.

However, it would appear that there is but one course open, that being to face the crisis. Those engaged in the coal industry cannot apparently realize that changes, which cannot be overcome, have taken place in the last few years. There has been a great increase in the production of coal in India, Japan, China, Australia and South Africa. All over the world there is a growing increase in the use of water power to replace steam, while more and more oil is being utilized as a fuel on the seas and in the industries.

Coal operators and miners must adapt themselves to these changes and the sooner they do, the better it will be for everybody.

THE USE OF THE BAYONET.

One of the indictments brought against the military courses at the University of Nebraska has been that instruction was given in the use of the bayonet.

In a southern state a critic of military drill in the universities and colleges of the country made a similar statement. When he discovered his error in an article which he had contributed on the subject, he was quick to correct it. He found upon more thorough investigation that not only was bayonet drill eliminated from the courses but the War department would not permit instruction of this kind to be given.

Not so with the Nebraskans who have been agitating the question.

Until recently the statement with reference to bayonet work has not been corrected.

It is to be expected, however, that numberless confusing and misleading statements of this sort will be made if the question of compulsory drill is submitted to a referendum vote. The issue is one which very readily lends itself to this method of attack. A hundred horrible and frightful objections can be raised, and the effort to keep pace with them and clear up the misapprehensions which they arouse will be a futile one.

The sane and sensible course for Nebraska to follow is to refuse to have anything to do with this effort to stir up a referendum on military drill. It is a question which bears only an incidental relation to education. Through the years that it has been a part of the university curriculum, there has never been any evidence of abuse. On the contrary, a vast majority of the young men who attended the university and who were enrolled in the cadet battalion testify they found the discipline and the exercise most beneficial.

America is no more a pacifist nation than it is a militaristic power. It believes in following a moderate course in the matter of national preparedness and that is what it is doing today. The reserve corps unit at the University of Nebraska is a part of the program which congress initiated in 1916 and completed in 1920. It is a program which deserves the support of the people of this state.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Yeast Cakes—

I.—There is no doubt that some people are benefitted by taking yeast for constipation and skin troubles. Yeast is very high in the vitamin B., the anti-rachie vitamin, which has a great deal to do with the integrity of the intestinal tract and vegetables. This vitamin B. is especially high in fresh ray cabbage, tomatoes (raw canned or dried, beans, fresh spinach, yeast and yeast extracts.

Yeast is 40 calories t othe ounce; the moist cakes of yeast weigh one-half ounce and so are approximately 20 calories.

Mrs. A.—If your husband is passing blood and mucous, he should have a complete examination including a rectal examination. This condition may be caused by a number of things, among them mucous colitis, hemorrhoids, tumors, or ulcers.

If your doctor says, without an examination, to do nothing for it, that it will right itself in time. I suggest that you see another doctor who is more conscientious and knows his profession.

Has She Scurvy?—

Miss F. had abscesses at the roots of her teeth and says she was "frightened" by a dentit into having them all pulled out except eight of the lower teeth. The dentist told her she would be better in a week after the teeth were out, but she wasn't; in fact, she was very much worse. Neither of the plates fitted and lately she has had to have the other eight teeth out. And she has been worse ever since! A doctor said that she was worn out with hard work and had neuritis. She feels better since moving to the city, but her gums continue to be very sore and ulcerated. She was thrown from an automobile and severely injured around the head, but without permanent disfiguring. This accident was a great shock and left her weaker than before. She wants to know if scientific diet would remove this soreness from her gums. She eats no raw vegetables or fruits, only cooked ones. She ends up by saying that she nearly omitted to say that she is very much underweight.

The thing you nearly omitted to state, Miss F., probably gives the clue to your entire troubles. As a tentative guess (and of course, that is all I can do), I guess that you have scurvy from your not getting sufficient raw fruits and vegetables in your diet. And probably you have an acidosis from living on your own tissues instead of good food. And until you get your nourishment up to par, your gums will continue to be sore. Your accident probably had nothing to do with your condition.

Because it will be difficult for you to eat, I would go on an exclusive milk and orange juice diet, if I were you. I would not try to keep any plates in my mouth while the gums are so sore. You should go to an institution that gives the milk diet cure; if you cannot, write to me again in care of this newspaper asking for a list of books on the milk diet. (Enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.) You must have some fresh orange juice. 2 or 3 glasses of it a day, with your milk, for this scurvy which you probably have. In order to gain weight, you will have to have as high as five or six quarts of milk daily.

Your dentist was right in saying that abscessed teeth are dangerous.

You had better send for our booklet on gaining, too. (Enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope and ten cents in stamps.)

My dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED envelope, bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose TEN cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, NOT OVER 200 WORDS, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible if they are of general interest. Don't forget to send the STAMPED SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Another Indian Maharajah Is Now In Trouble

LONDON, April 17.—(A. P.)—Closely following the abdication in India of the Maharajah of Indore because of his connection with Mumtaz Begum, a nautch dancing girl, once a member of his household, another ruling Indian prince is in trouble. He is his majesty, Mir Ali Nawaz Khan, ruler of the state of Khairpur, a small native state in the Sindh region. The brand of moral turpitude alleged against Mir Ali, who rules over a population of about 220,000, is different from that of the Maharajah of Indore.

According to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Bombay, it consists of insensate and wanton extravagance which has brought his estate to the verge of bankruptcy and produced much unrest among his subjects.

The Bombay government, which is the controlling power under the imperial government, is considering the question of deposing Mir Ali, who is alleged to have appropriated all of the state revenues to his own use.

Mir Ali succeeded his father in 1921. He made a tour of Europe in 1911.

SLANDER VERDICT UPHELD BY COURT

Affirm $1,750 Judgment Won By Porter Accused Of Theft.

Accusing a negro Pullman train porter of theft without being able to prove the charge, thereby damaging his reputation and causing him to suffer embarrassment and loss of confidence among his acquaintances, is a proper basis of damages, the Nebraska supreme court commission rules in sustaining a verdict for $1,750 given by a jury in Douglas county to Jesse J. Armstrong against the Pullman Co. and Fred E. Gilliland, conductor on the train where Armstrong was employed.

The porter alleged that he was subjected to humiliation and disgrace before a carful of passengers when Gilliland charged him with stealing a pair of gloves and a package of cigarets from a man in one of the berths. Gilliland also searched him and his effects but did not find the missing articles.

Although the Union Pacific railroad, his employer, investigated and found no facts to justify the charge, as Armstrong claimed, his friends in Omaha nad Cheyenne herad of the affair and as a result another investigation was made by a lodge t owhich he belonged, he was dropped from membership in a church choir, and he was guyed and joked at the barber shop which he frequented, so that he was forced to find another barber. Even his wife became perturbed and domestic difficulties threatened for a time.

While evidence in the case was conflicting, the commission says the jury evidently believed Armstrong's testimony. It finds no reason to upset the verdict. The Pullman company is held liable with its conductor for the latter's alleged slanderous statements.

The worst joke I heard today was told to me by the most popular man in New York City, Father Duffy, the chaplain of the Fighting 69th. I run onto him at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Then I see the other day where the Catholic writers guild had given him $10,000. That will last him about three days. He will take it and give it out to all who are down and out. But just think what a lot of good he will do with it. You don't have to be of his religion to get on with Father Duffy. He coud go into Atlanta, and in two months be elected grand lollypops of the Klan, or down on the east side in New York and be head of the Rabbis' guild. I am pulling for Father Duffy to be pope some day. He has Tammany Hall and I behind him

Father tells a good Irish story. An Episcopal bishop was driving down Fifth avenue, sitting away back, all bundled up in his limousine, and his driver disobeyed some traffic rule. The big Irish cop come out and stopped him and was all set to give him a ticket The Episcopal bishop who wore a Roman collar looked out to see what all the shooting was about, and the cop saw the collar. Now this was in about two blocks of the Cathedral. The policeman couldn't think of enough apologies. But just as they started to drive away he said: Look out father, two corners down. There is a protestant policeman on duty!"

CHICAGO — (AP) — American homes probably exceed in attractiveness and utility those of any other nation, according to Dr. Richard T. Ely, director of the institute of research in land economics and public utilities of Northwestern university, who Friday addressed the public welfare meeting at the Hotel Sherman. Dr. Ely said he agreed with the French statesmen, who after a tour of America had referred to the United States as the "land of joy." In the matter of home building, however, progress in this country has been much like pushing a stone uphill, only to see it roll down again, he stated.

CHAPTER 114.

When at last the letter from John Hay came Alice took it up stairs to her own room.

It had been brought to her while she sat at breakfast. She had seen John's handwriting only a few times, yet she knew instinctively that the unsteady chirography was his. As she slipped the unopened envelope into the front of her blouse she felt that it contained a thick letter. She was glad he had written to her fully, yet she was afraid of what she might read.

Her mother, opening her own mail, did not notice her daughter's action. If her father observed it, he gave no sign, but remained buried in the morning paper.

When he had left the house to go downtown Alice arose. Her mother looked at her inquiringly.

"Dear, why this hurry? Don't you think you might linger and talk with me for a little while?"

Alice dropped again into her chair. Her mother had not interfered lately with her actions.

Was she going to do so now?

She certainly was. There was a look about the matron's mouth that betokened determination.

"Alice," she began, "there is something I feel it my duty to say to you. Your father has interfered when I have suggested that you are becoming too self-absorbed. And of course I yield to what he considers his superior understanding of you. But it hurts me that you put me off as you do. Since our dear Jim's death you have scarcely spoken to me of him. I admit that I have been hurt by your silence, and, if your father likes it or not, I feel I should tell you this. You of course, will not mention this conversation to him."

"No, mother."

Mrs. Fitzgerald frowned. "Is that all you have to say to me?" she demanded.

"Just what do you want me to say?" the harried girl asked. "I have nothing to say."

"You should have!" the parent declared. "Daddy insisted that you be left alone to readjust yourself. I consented to that, although it would seem natural to me that in a great sorrow you would turn to your mother. But perhaps I do not understand the modern girl. Nor do I understand why you did not ask to be allowed to wear black for poor Jim. It would have looked much better ..... if you really loved him."

"Mother!"

"Yes, I mean just that! I am sure people must think it queer. I said as much to your father. He spoke very angrily about his opinion of what people might think. But if he has no regard for the conventions I have!"

Alice steadied her voice. "I am sorry to have displeased you, mother. But in this matter I must follow my own inclinations, —must be honest."

"And you call it honest to keep to yourself, to stay at home and go nowhere except for a drive in the evening after dark? If you are sad and forsaken it would surely be more natural to dress to the part and to see the friends who might brighten you up."

The girl rose from the table. "Forgive me mother, but I really cannot discuss this matter any further. I have not as much self control as I wish I had, and may say something that you and I will both regret. So if you will excuse me I will go up to my room."

Tears of chagrin sprang to the matron's eyes. She loved a sensation. Here had been a wonderfully dramatic situation and she had been foiled in her desire to make the most of it. Poor, dear Jim was dead—killed by a criminal who had attempted to rob him. It had been in all the papers —such an exciting story. Yet Richard had used his influence to have his daughter's name suppressed. It would have been so romantic to see the story with the information that Richard Fitgerald's beautiful daughter!

If that could not be, Alice might at least have put on black. It would remind people of her loss. Moreover, she never went where anyone could see her. That was all right, of course, if she were in deep mourning. As it was, when people asked about her, there was nothing romantic of pathetic to tell them—although of course she, Amelia, made as good a tale as she could. Well, there was no help for it! Alice and her father were just alike.

"You may go on up to your room if you wish," the mother said tremulously.

But the break in her voice and the tears in her eyes failed to move her recalcitrant child. With a murmured "Thank you, and excuse me!" Alice hurried from the room.

When she reached the upper hall she actually ran through the passage leading to her own room.

Here she locked the door and dropped down upon a chair, her breath coming rapidly.

"Oh, how can she! How can she?" she panted. "If she would just let me alone! I feel like such a hypocrite! And this morning, when I want to be by myself!"

With hands that shook she drew the letter from her blouse. Tearing the envelope open, she pulled forth the folded sheets.

"It is very long," she murmured. Then she read the salutation:

"Dear Friend!" "He writes to me like that—after all that passed when we last met! Why, why—how queer! Oh, if only my hand would not shake so."

She sprang up and laid the open letter upon her desk, then, seating herself, began to read it.

JOIN TO SELL POULTRY, EGGS

Farmers Elect Directors of New Cooperative Organization.

Thirty Lancaster county farmers met at the court house Friday afternoon and organized a co-operative poultry and egg marketing association.

Directors chosen are:

C. H. Gustafson, University Place; C. A. Morton, Chency; L. D. Welch, Bennet; A. A. Horn, College View; Mrs. B. F. Preston, Lincoln; Mrs. T. F. George, Denton, and A. R. Wallick, Roca.

These directors are to meet at 8 p. m. Monday at the court house, elect officers, adopt by-laws, and make plans for securing the 1,000 members of the association necessary before it can start operating.

George Boomer, a specialist on rural economics, told the farmers that if care is taken in selecting and grading the eggs and poultry, higher prices can doubtless be obtained.

The organization formed is similar to those being started in various parts of Nebraska. They have already operated with success in other states. The local association intends to handle poultry and eggs, as well as sell feed to its members. A membership fee of $3 is charged and will be used to establish marketing facilities. Each member signs a contract to sell all his eggs and poultry to the association and pays a small sum for the expenses of grading, shipping and handling his produce. Shipments in carload lots to eastern markets will be a part of the program.

Fine Three For Violating School Stop Warnings

Four alleged violators of a school stop signal were arraigned in municipal court Saturday with E. F. Beaver, custodian at the Normal school at Fifty-third and South streets, as the complaining witness.

Beaver testified against all four of the men. Three of them, Earnest Park, M. Lauer, and V. E. Wendelin, were fined $10 and costs. The fourth, R. B. Dunham, was dismissed when he swore that he stopped for the sign.

Speeders in court Saturday numbered three. These fines were imposed: L. Wilsey, $10 and costs; George Clark, $10 and costs, and G. Hubbard, $10 and costs.

H. F. Schnell appeared for his second offense of violating a time-parking ordinance, and paid a fine of $1 and costs.

"City On Wheels" Chief Worry For Western Sheriff

Sheriff F. M. Jump of Ogalalla and County Attorney L. A. Devoe arrived in Lincoln Saturday morning with three prisoners for the state reformatory. The youths are Ted Speare, 21, Elwin Speare, 16, and Don Gordon, 19, all of whom were convicted of breaking and entering a store and sentenced to 1 to 3 years each.

The sheriff expected to return at once to his western home where he can "breathe easier." The country near his famous old "cow town" is still a region of ranches, he says, but the days of six shooting are over. It's harder to catch a criminal in a big city now than it is in the west, so they stay in the secluded haunts of some metropolis. Sheriff Jump's worst trouble is with the "city on wheels" that passes over the Lincoln highway

NO HANGARS PROVIDED.

WASHINGTON, April 17—(AP)—Five coast guard seaplanes, being built for use against rum ships, will have no hangars under a decision by Comptroller General McCarl. Overruling an appeal by Secretary Mellon, McCarl has held no provision for construction of hangars was made in a $3,900,000 appropriation bill for building the planes and for equipment.

DESCRIBES THE A. A. U. W. WORK

Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhart Speaks Before Lincoln Chapter.

Declares Purpose to Foster Higher Education Among Women.

The creation of the American Association of University Women, the vast opportunity confronting the organization, its aims and its accomplishments, formed the subject for the address given Friday evening by Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt at the dinner sponsored by the Lincoln branch of the A. A. U. W., at Hotel Lincoln. Dr. Reinhardt talked before a group of 160, including members of the association and their guests.

"I do not feel that it is necessary to apologize in any way for our organization," Dr. Reinhardt stated. "In fact I refuse to apologize for it. The American Association of University Women has accomplished much in the years of its service for education of women. It has created scholarships and fellowships and given opportunity where was seemingly none to be had. As far as I can ascertain the only ambition of men's university clubs and other organizations, is an easy chair and a good cigar. Some of the easiest chairs I ever have sat in, and some of the most fragrant cigars I ever smelled smoked were in men's university clubs."

Dr. Reinhardt said that the association was founded to encourage women toward higher education, but that one difficult thing it had met so far was the matter of recognition. The nation has no department of education, and there is practically no authentic rating agency upon whose decisions the association can rate its scholarships and fellowships. According to Dr. Rheinhardt the nearest approach to an agency of this kind is the American Association of Universities, but as that organization is more concerned with universities than the women in them, it does not help the association much.

There is bound to be some dissatisfaction, it seems, no matter where the scholarships or fellowships are awarded. We try to give them schools where women really have a definite part in the work of the college, where all courses are opened to them, and where they accomplish something worth while."

Tells of Work Abroad.

Speaking of the international association of University Women, Dr. Reinhardt told of her trip to Brussels some months ago where she attended the international conference of university women. She told of the various work being done by the associations in England, Italy, France, Belgium, Ireland, and various other countries which were represented at the meeting.

Dr. Reinhardt complimented the Lincoln branch upon the activity in its quota for the national headquarters fund, which, according to Miss Lulu Runge, chairman of the committee on the headquarters fund, is completed. The Lincoln branch had three years in which to raise $1,791, and the first year only $117 was collected. During the past two years the members have given $1,764. The money, which goes to the national headquarters at Washington, also helps support a headquarters in New York City, but not elaborately, and not upon so large a scale as some of the foreign countries, according to Dr. Reinhardt.

Presidents of all nearby colleges and presidents of the two other branches of A. A. U. W. in the state were invited to be present at the dinner Friday evening. Chancelor Avery could not be present, neither could M. C. Lefler, superintendent of city schools, nor John M. Matzen, state superintendent. Chancellor I. B. Schreckengast at Wesleyan had a speaking engagement and could not be present but was represented by Dean F. A. Alabaster and Mrs. Alabaster. Included among the honored guests were, besides Dean and Mrs. F. A. Alabaster, Dean and Mrs. J. E. Duncan, Cotner college; Dr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Dean, Doane, college; Mrs. J. E. Bednar, president of the Omaha branch of A. A. U. W.; Mrs. Thomas Griffin of Hardy, member of the Lincoln branch; Mrs. B. W. McLucas and Mrs. Bess Wildhaber of Fairbury, of the Fairbury college club; and deans of women, Amanda Heppner, University of Nebraska, Mrs. M. E. Gilbert, Wesleyan, and Myrtle Lecompte of Doane.

Mrs. Addison E. Sheldon, state president of Nebraska A. A. U. W. presided, and after introducing the representatives of the various schools, asked Mrs. Samuel Avery to introduce Dr. Rheinhardt. Dr. Reinhardt taught English in the University of Idaho at the same time Chancellor Avery was teaching chemistry there.

Covers were arranged for eight each at small tables centered with sweet peas. At the speaker's table were baskets of Ophelia roses.

Dr. Reinhardt was the guest at a tea this afternoon at Ellen Smith hall, for which the members of the A. A. U. W. were hostesses, and to which all senior university women were invited.

Adkins, Texas.—"Before my baby came I was so weak I had to stay in bed most of the time until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound My mother-in-law, who is a midwife, told me it was all foolishness for me to stay in bed. She told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it would help me. She handed me one of your little books and I read it and was interested in it. I went to a drug store that night and got a bottle of your wonderful medicine. I took it until the baby was born and was able to be up and do my work. Baby is 4½ months old now and weighs 14 pounds I have plenty of milk for her and she gains steadily. I recommend it I am willing to answer letters and will do anything I can for any woman, for I know how I suffered"—Mrs. A. H. Tschirhart, R. No. 2, Box 39, Adkins, Texas.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO, Ill., April 17.—(AP)—Those bullish on May wheat are not looking for a repetition of the heavy individual selling that the market encountered yesterday. The selling enabled several shorts to get in and the decline brought renewed buying by others who are friendly to that side on breaks. There is a disposition to buy July on breaks under $1.40 and to buy July and sell September, a good deal of changing being only at a 6¾ to 6⅞c spread, the widest so far.

With May wheat at 26 cents over July, cash handlers are on the lookout for wheat in the northwest and in the southwest that can be obtained on a profitable basis and brought to Chicago for delivery. The small cargo, 120,000 bushels No. 2 northern, bought at Duluth yesterday at 1½c old style May, is to be here by May 20. It is deliverable on a flat basis while on the new style, it can be delivered only at a discount of 3 cents.

Disposition on the part of most local professionals is to sell corn on the bulges. Elevator people are buying May and selling July, the spread being 4¼ to 4¾ cents.

Argentina is shipping new corn, 240,000 bushels having been exported this week.

Numerous messages from Winnipeg tell of lack of moisture last winter and the need of a good rain after the crop is seeded. It is said that 50 per cent of the plowing remains to be done in the western provinces. Reports on seeding ar mixed. Calgary messages said considerable had been done in the last few days.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 17.

The motor stocks were under fire at the beginning of the short session of the stock market today. Proposals for lowering the Canadian tariff on imported automobiles has threatened the Canadian business of American companies maintaining assembling plants there, but the General Motors corporation announced that the plant closed yesterday for "consideration of the tariff" would be reopened on Monday..

The backward season and inclement weather has begun to cut inroads into the general trade and industry of the country, according to the weekly business reviews, and business has not gained the hoped for momentum in the second quarter of the year. Wall street professionals in the stock market have worked this "business recession" theory to the limit in the last few weeks. And when attempts were made to cause further unsettlement today in the motor and industrial stocks there were few stocks for sale at lower prices and a moderate short covering movement was inaugurated.

After the first reactionary period prices hardened in the principal motor, industrial and high priced specialty stocks. Shorts in the motor sotcks were the first to cover under the impetus of reports of reopening of the Canadian plants of American automobile manufacturers.

Some demand developed for the oil stocks in the second hour, but on the whole the market was unusually dull and inactive in this period. Numerous normally active groups like the rails, equipments, coppers and utilities hardly appeared on the tape, while motor and industrial stocks which enjoyed the "bulges" in the first period returned to a slightly lower level of prices. Sales in the first hour were only about 225,000 shares in a highly specialized professional market.

Burns Brothers A stock advanced about 8 points to 135, while the B stock rose 4 points to 37 on reports that net income of the company last year would exceed $2,600,000, the largest in its history. The motor and industrial stocks were lifeless in this period and price changes were negligible. The volume of trading was unusually lower.

The stock market was irregualr at the opening today, with motor stocks and high priced industrials lower, steel and oil stocks steady. General Electric sold at 288½, down 1 point; Westinghouse down ½ at 66¼; Du Pont down ½ at 194¼; Dodge Brothers down ½ at 26½; Chrysler down ⅛ at 32⅜; General Motorns down ¼ at 115¾; Hudson unchanged at 62½; Studebaker down ⅜ at 50¾; U. S. Steel sold at 118¾, up ¼, and Republic Iron & Steel up 1¼ at 49. Mid-Continent Petroleum up ½ at 29¾; Pan-American Petroleum B up ¼ at 62¾; Standar dof New Jersey at 62¾.

Sales on the New York stock exchange today were 361,000 shares; bonds $7,-023,000.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP)—Dun's today said:

"A backward season over a wide area has been mainly accountable for a slow development of spring trade. Some goods, which normally should be moving freely, now are not going actively into consumption because of inclement weather, and farm work in different sections also has been retarded. Opening of lake navigation at northern ports moreover has been delayed and business generally has not gained the hoped for momentum thus far in the second quarter. The comparative smallness of dealers' stocks of merchandise remains a strong point, yet a lagging of retail distributions tends to drag out offers of price concessions. After fourteen successive weeks, during which declines in wholesale quotations have predominated, a condition has been reached where profit margins in some lines of manufacture are very close and the absence of broad forward demand caused a curtailment of production in some directions."

Weekly bank clearings, $4,951,007,000.

firmance of the lower court's judgment to that effect in a suit brought by the A. O. U. W. lodge to have the property sold and the proceeds divided.

The other lodges opposed partition and desired to have the old arrangement remain in force. They are the Knights of Pythias, the Modern Woodmen, and the Royal Highlanders. Commissioner Neighbors dissents from the majority finding.

Holiday Judgement Invalid.

Because the district court in Hayes county tried the suit of F. M. Kellie against the National Fire Insurance Co. of Hartford on Washington's birthday, February 22, 1924, and directed a verdict for $2,125 on the same date the decree is set aside and the case remanded for a new trial. At the time this action was tried, the law of Nebraska forbade halding court on holidays. The suit was brought to collect on a fire insurance policy.

The legislature of 1925 amended the statute to allow court sessions on any holiday except New Year, Memorial day, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving, and Christmas.

Award $2691.50 Compensation to Borden's Widow

Compensation amounting to $2,-691.0, at the rate of $7.69 per week, has been allowed by State Labor Secretary Kennedy to Rose Borden of Royal against the Northern Antelope Telephone Co. for the death of Wilford D. Borden, due to an accident in the course of his employment with the company. Medical expenses of $150 to pay burial costs are also awarded her.

The Methodist church at Trenton must pay Samuel E. Turvin $570, in weekly installments of $15, for the loss of his index finger and 10 per cent loss of the use of the second finger on his right hand, resulting from an injury he sustained while at work on the church building.

Horace H. Wendell of Omaha filed a claim of $77 against his employer, the M. C. Peters Mill Co., as the cost of being treated for "actinomycosis," a disease which he alleged he had contracted in handling an animal that was infected with it. The claim was dismissed because the disability did not result from an accident.

Wolcott Speaks to Professional Club

Dr. R. H. Wolcott, head of the zoology department at the University of Nebraska, spoke Saturday noon to the Professional Men's club. His subject was: "As the Biologist Sees It."

To the scientific man, Dr. Wolcot said, creation was not a thing accomplished within a certain time. It is a continuous process, without beginning or end. He referred to the universe, and not specifically to this earth, he said.

The student of biology does not tend to lose his religious faith, Dr. Wolcott declared, but through his studies gains a more profound faith. He will gain tolerance, sympathy with others, understand his life in relation to certain fundamental laws which govern animate life, and in that way live more effectively, Dr. Wolcott said.

The meeting was held at the Lincoln hotel.

FIRE CLAIMS THREE.

ROCKFORD, Ill., April 17.—(AP)—A mother and two children were burned to death in a farm house near Seward, twelve miles west of here, Friday. The father, working in the fields nearby, was unaware of the tragedy until informed by neighbors. The victims were Mrs. Melbim Strang, Oliver, 11-months, and May, 2 years old.

SIDE SHOW FREAK DEAD.

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP) Krao Farini, who for thirty years was billed as "the missing link" in circus side shows, died Friday of influenza. She was born in Siam forty-nine years ago and when she came to this country procured side show employment by her wild and hairy appearance.

EXPECTS HOUSE RELIEF BILL BY END NEXT WEEK

Tilson Assures Minnesotans Farm Measure Will Be Reported Soon.

Agriculture Committee Instructs Chairman Haugen to Draft Plan.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Notice from Minnesota republicans in the house that they would oppose adjournment of congress until farm relief legislation was enacted brought from Representative Tilson, the republican leader, a response Friday that he expected a bill reported by next Wednesday and brought up in the house the latter part of the week.

Meanwhile, the argiculture committee, displaying symptoms of swerving from Secretary Jardine's plan, embodied in the Tincher bill, instructed Chairman Haugen to draft a measure. This procedure was adopted without a dissentig vote, but did not commit members to any form of legislation.

At the white house it was said that President Coolidge intends to withhold sanction of the Tincher bill until he can inform himself more definitely of its provisions and various farm groups in congress have had opportunity in the house and senate to develop their views as to wwhat should be done.

He is inclined, however, to look with favor on the principle of the Tincher bill of not engaging the government in the buying or selling of farm products.

He does not regard the recolving fund proposal of Secretary Jardine, provided for in the Tincher measure, as a government subsidy any more than loans extended through the War Finance corporation and he believes that it would provide a credit for farmers more direct and satisfactory than the intermediate banks, which, he believes, are not functioning as well as had been expected.

Haugen Works On Bill.

At the meeting of the house agriculture committee, Chairman Haugen indicated that in working out a bill he would use the corn belt measure as a basis, modifying it in important particulars so that it would be similar to the McNary-Haugen bill which failed to receive congressional apuproval two years ago.

His plan is to include a revolving fund for stabilizing agricultural prices by levying an equalization fee on the first sale of wheat, corn, cattle and hogs.

Differing from the corn belt bill, which leaves price stabilization to the discretion of a federal farm board, Mr. Haugen's scheme would direct the board to maintain the price of each basic commodity at the world market quotation plus the import tariff.

Should the price of any product fall below this figure, the board would be authorized to buy and sell the product directly. Under the corn belt bill, the board could operate only through farmers' cooperative associations.

The Haugen bill also would empower the president to fix the tariff on food commodities at any level necessary to protect the American farmer from foreign competition. The tariff is not mentioned in the corn belt measure.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR HERRIN DEAD

Troops Patrol Streets During Last Rites For Three Klansmen.

HERRIN, Ill., April 17.—(By the Associated Press.) — With troops patrolling streets in the vicinity, funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the First Christian church for Harland Ford, Mack Sizemore and Ben Sizemore, the three klansmen killed in Tuesday's election disorders.

Four clergymen officiated. They were the Rev. J. E. Storey, pastor of the church where the funeral was held; the Rev. R. P. Glotfelty, pastor of the First M. E. church of Herrin; the Rev. I. E Lee, pastor of the First Baptist church of Herrin, and the Rev. B. E. Green, pastor of the First Baptist church of Hurst. Green was formerly editor of the klan newspaper at Herrin and was prominent in klan affairs during the klan regime in Williamson county.

The Odd Fellows lodge, of which all three were members, had charge of the services. The small church was packed to capacity and many stood on the outside. It was announced Friday morning that the services would be held at the First Baptist church, which is larger, but plans were changed again to hold the services in the First Christian church, as originally announced.

Hold Short Session.

The coroner's jury held a short session Friday, heard two witnesses adjourned until this morning. Richard Thompson, a miner, testified that three automobiles with armed men drove up to the Masonic hall polling place, in front of which the fatalities occurred, the men got out and started toward John Ford, former chief of police, reputed cyclops of the Herrin klan now, and a brother of one of the slain men. He said a man who he believed was Mack Sizemore fired the first shot which killed one of the two men who accosted Ford and searched him. Almost simultaneously, Thompson said, Mack Sizemore fell mortally wounded. He said he did not recognize any of the men who got out of the cars.

Dale McNeil, the other witness, testified in the main to the same effect. In the previous shooting at the Smith garage, he said, he saw fifteen or twenty men firing toward the garage, the only one of whom he recognized being Bill Burton. He said he did not see any police or regular deputy sheriffs near the polls.

Manager Bucky Harris, of the champion Senators, is determined to fight for every point and give Washington another pennant. He protested so vigorously yestarday on one of Umpire Nallin's decisions that he was ordered to the showers

Reed read a number of statistics showing an improved temperance situation in Quebec and other Canadian provinces under the government sale laws.

"In dry Boston, having a population of 775,000, there were 48,000 arrests for drunkenness last year, while in wet Montreal, having 618,-000 population, there were only 3,761 arrests for drunkenness last year," said Reed. "What doyou think of that?"

"Well, it depends chiefly on the instructions issued by the police heads regarding when to make arrests," was Raney's reply.

The committee announced at the end of the morning session that Julien Codman, the wets' "prosecuting attorney," would be allowed to make a "rebuttal argument" to the dry testimony when the latter's evidence is completed.

Attack Buckner and Andrews.

WASHINGTON, April 17. — (By the Associated Press.) — The drys drew up a battery of lay witnesses today to carry forward the bombardment against modification measures at the senate prohibition hearing.

Elsewhere, meanwhile, the legislative committee of the Anti-saloon league was called in council to consider action on the testimony of Assistant Secretary Andrews and United States Attorney Buckner of New York.

The big guns of the drys' battery of lay witnesses included W. E. Raney, former attorney general of Canada, who was placed in position to combat the testimony of other Canadians put on the stand by the wets; Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, and A. A. Stagg, football coach of Chicago university.

The question before the Anti-saloon league committee was whether to demand removal from office of General Andrews, the grand marshal of federal enforcement agencies, and District Attorney Buckner. The testimony of the latter, who has advocated more complete enforcement of the Volstead act or its modification, proved especially displeasing to prohibitionists, and the opinion expressed by General Andrews in reply to a hypothetical question that restricted manufacture and sale of non-intoxicating beer under government control might aid enforcement has brought down upon him a barrage of denunciation from some ardent drys.

May Demand Removal.

The legislative committee already has discussed the situation and when today's meeting was called, some predicted a demand for removal of one if not both of the officials, or at least a resolution of censure, would be adopted.

Whether any notice would be taken of Secretary Andrews' testimony, however, remained somewhat in doubt, in view of the differing reactions among prohibitionists themselves.

As contrasted with the denunciations from some prohibition workers, Representative Cramton, republican, Michigan, dry leader in the house, has voiced the opposite view, telling the chamber he believed the general was striving faithfully to enforce the law.

Describing the general's testimony as "based on no facts whatever, but on the flimsiest kind of guess work," Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the league, a member of the committee delared:

"He certainly did not take into consideration the comment Attorney General Sargent recently made on the subject that the prohibition enforcement official who publicly states he doesn't thoroughly believe in the law weakens his own position in attempting to enforce the law."

The opposition of prohibitionists to liberalization of the Volstead act, set forth emphatically with the launching of their counter offensive against the wets at the senate hearing yesterday, was echoed today in a statement by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president, and Ida B. Wise Smith, vice president of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

The testimony as presented by the wets, dry advocates said, is from wet cities and wet centers and given by those who oppose prohibition before it came and have opposed it ever since.

Prohibition can be enforced and is being enforced ,notwithstanding the activities of the proponents of legislation to weaken the Volstead act."

SAYS SALT CREEK PLANS EXCELLENT

overcoming the storm water problem, particularly as it will affect the future development of the city's industrial district along the railroads.

Members of the chamber of commerce committee, of which C. Chase is chairman, said today that several projects are being considered. The one that seems to be the most favorable, it is said, is to build dikes along the creek and thus confine the water to a narrow channel. This plan would carry with it the development of a boulevard on top of the dike.

Another plan also contemplates dikes but involves widening the bed of the creek, and some are of the opinion that it will be too wide for practical purposes.

Members of the chamber committee besides Mr. Chase are Frank Darrow, A. H. Edgren, county engineer; R. L. Cochran, state engineer; D. L. Erickson, city engineer; R. L. Huntley of Ohaha, engineer for the Union Pacific; J. E. Miller, and W. C. Frampton.

Banking Reserve Shows Decrease

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP)—The actual condition of clearing house banks and trusts companies for the week shows excess reserve of $14,-264,680. This is a decrease in reserve of $5,427,020 compared with last week when excess reserve of $19,691,700 was reported.

LOANS RECORD.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(AP)—Loans to brokers an dealers made by New York City Federal Reserve member banks in the week ending April 17, were announced by the board Friday as $2,487,352,-000, compared with $2,573,061,000, the previous week.

Canadian Auto Firms Close Doors

TORONTO, Ont., April 17. — (AP)—The Dodge Motorcar Co. of Canada and the Durant Motor Co. of Canada suspended operations temporarily today as a result of the lowering of duties on imported motorcars. About 400 employes in the Dodge plant and 600 in the Durant plant were affected.

Many Made Idle.

TORONTO, April 17. — (AP)—The plant of the General Motors corporation at Oshawa, Ont., suspended operations Friday as a result of Canadian tariff reductions on imported automobiles. Three thousand employes are temporarily out of work. On arrival at the factory, employes found the following notice:

"On account of tariff changes the entire plant is closed indefinitely until the company is able to arrive at an intelligent conclusion as to what future course is advisable."

R. S. McLaughlin, president of the company, declined to make any comment.

The tariff changes, which went into effect yesterday, call for a reduction of 15 per cent on imported automobiles valued at not more than $1,200 retail and 27 1-2 per cent on those valued at more than $1,200 retail.

Manufacturers Confer.

TORONTO, Ont., April 17. — (AP)—Canadian motor factories in general will continue their operations temporarily, says a statement by T. A. Russell, president of the Canadian Automotive Industries association, issued after a meeting here Friday of motor car manufacturers to consider the position growing out of the reduction in duties on motor cars, as announced in budget speech in parliament Thursday.

But, the statement adds, many factories will find it imperative to begin transferring important parts of their operations from Canada and to increase the imports both of cars and materials from the United States.

"AIR PIRACY" NEW PROBLEM

manufacturers may now seize a wave band and proceed with their experiments, providing they have a license.

Clarifies Laws.

Clarification of the existing laws applicable to radio is seen in the decision.

To prevent pirating, regulation 15 of the wireless act of 1912 specifically provides that none other than radio manufacturers can have a wave length exceeding 200 meters except by special consent of the secretary of commerce.

The Zenith corporation, according to its president, E. F. McDonald, jr., and his attorney, Irving Herriott, invited prosecution by the government in the hope, they said, of inciting clearer legislation.

Stations which operate for commercial or amusement purposes are not concerned with the decision.

Cannot Appeal.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The future of radio broadcasting regulation apparently rests with congress, in the opinion of Stephen B. Davis acting secretary of commerce, after a telephone talk with officials in Chicago regarding the decision of Federal Judge Wilkerson, adverse to the government' scontention in the "air piracy" case against the Zenith Radio corporation.

The Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia has handed down a decision precisely opposite to the Chicago ruling, he said, so that "apparently we have two opinions which are in hopeless conflict." The government cannot appeal from the Chicago decision because it was based on a criminal information.

PLAN TO HANDLE BIG GRAIN CROP

lines. The Northwestern has 64.9 of its own cars on the system; the Great Western, 53.9 per cent; the Milwaukee, 61.2 per cent; Rock Island, 63 per cent; Union Pacific, 58 per cent, and Missouri Pacific, 53 per cent.

The Missouri Pacific, which has an extensive lumber traffic, consequently owns or operates many lumber cars on its lines, said Mr. Taylor. These cars, he explained, are not suitable for wheat transportation, and steps will be taken at once by the railroad, to return its grain cars in this territory for the big wheat cargoes expected during June, July and August.

Pinch in Cars Likely.

"If crop prospects develop as indicated," Taylor stated, "there is likely to be a pinch in freight cars."

All officers of the advisory committee were re-elected, including Mr. Taylor as general chairman.

The advisory shipping service extended to cattle shippers by all railroads at Denver has met with much success, Mr. Taylor said. While no move was taken to extend this service to other cities, the question is likely to be acted upon at the next meeting of the board.

Ford Hovey and William Schellberg of Omaha, representing packing interests at South Omaha, reported to the board that the cattle shipping movement was fairly even. G. B. Steward, secretary of the Nebraska farm bureau federation, reviewed the agricultural situation in this state.

The next meeting of the board will be held July 8 at Salt Lake City.

Doesn't Worry and Lives For Century

OMAHA, April 17.—(AP) — William Everett, Omaha's reputed oldest man, observed his 103rd birthday today. He has lived in Omaha 70 years, and is an accomplished carpenter.

He observed the day by hauling lumber but intimated he may enjoy a quiet dinner party.

"Don't worry and take things as they come along and you have the key to longevity," Everett advises.

SPECIAL VOTE ON TAX RAISE

statement of their financial conditios. At the same time the city engineer and the legal department will be authorized to take such steps as will be necessary in their departments.

Saturday forenoon a conference between the city council of Lincoln and the members of the University Place board was arranged by the mayors of the two municipalities, at the suggestion of Mayor Theobald of the suburb. The meeting will be held at the suburban city hall Monday evening. Mayor Zehrung and Commissioners Gillaspie and Duncan have agreed to attend and Commisioner Schroeder said he would be there if he could. Commissioner Wright was out of the city.

Monday noon the members of the council will attend a meeting of the tax committee of the city planning subdivision of the chamber of commerce at the chamber. The committee is headed by Charles Stuart and for several weeks has been making a study of the council proposal to change from a flat sum levy to a 10-mill basis.

Capital Improvement.

It is understood that the members have agreed to approve the amendment conditioned upon its being submitted so as to set aside 2 mills each year for capital improvements to be framed into a ten-year program. Eight mills would be allowed as a maximum for general expenses, with the increase each year fixed at 5 per cent on a base of $1,000,000 for 1926. This plan, it is contended by the planners' committee will serve as a check should a future council be inclined to run wild on expesses through "kiting" property values, and thus increase the total assessed valuation.

The proposal put forward recently by Commissioner Schroeder to change the method of paying special assessment and all other bonds of the city may not be submitted at this election.

Claims the Police Break Law Under Which He Is Fined

"If motorists can't turn in the middle of a block, why are the police allowed to do so every day at the police station at Tenth and Q streets?" Walter Hoppe asked in municipal court Saturday morning when he was fined $1 and costs for that offense.

Judge E. B. Chappell explained that there is a law permitting police to do so.

"I know that police violate the law sometimes," Judge Chappell said, "but in this case it isn't against the law to turn into the police station from across the street. I'll not argue with you. You believe one way and we believe another."

Chief Peter Johnstone said later all motorists are allowed to make the turn across the street at the police station.

Besides Hoppe, I. D. McGriff was also fined $1 and costs for turning at a place other than an intersection.

Light rain has fallen in eastern Iowa and northern Illinois, and scattered rain in the north Atlantic states, western Canada and the north Pacific states. Elsewhere the weather is mostly fair. Cool weather continues east of the Mississippi River and in the southwest. Temperatures are above normal for the season from the Missouri valley westward to the Pacific coast.

Jury Is Unable To Decide On "Desire Under the Elms"

LOS ANGELES, April 17. — (AP)— The legal status of "Desire Under the Elms" today remains unchanged after more than a week's run in Municipal court here. The jury disagreed and was discharged early this morning after listening to evidence presented by the play's critics and witnessing a courtroom reproduction of Eugene O'Neill's drama on New England life.

It was charged the presentation was obscene.

The jurors, nine women and three men, said they stood eight to four for conviction. They had deliberated since late yesterday afternoon. The case was set for retrial April 22.

Critics of the play attempted to prove it is "lewd, obscene and morally corrupting."

The twenty-six actors and actresses in the cast maintained it was more in the nature of a moral lesson, in which they were supported by Mrs. Mabel Wind Castle, a club woman, and others.

Pillette Hurls Links to 8-3 Victory Over Oilers

Lincoln Breaks In With First Victory of Season

Manager Dutch's Gang Hands Tulsa Neat Trimming; And Moves on to Oklahoma City; Pillette Very Potent Factor in Lincoln Triumph, His Three Hits Come in Handy.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

TULSA, Okla., April 16.—Manager Dutch and his Links scampered out of Tulsa last night heading for Oklahoma City, with a well merited 8-3 victory under their belts. Dutch demonstrated his faith in Ted Pillette by sending the Oregon husky right back at the Oilers in the windup combat of the three game series. Ted took a mauling in the Wednesday opening encounter and was whipped before getting fairly started.

But it was entirely different yesterday. The Oregon athlete devoted the past winter season to toiling for County Engineer Art Edgren and he must have had his surveying instruments concealed about his person yesterday as he took the measurements of the Oilers in the first frame and kept them stuffed tightly in his pockets all afternoon.

The score sheet discloses that Ted, with the aid of puissant support on the part of his pals, blanked the Oilers five successive innings. Base blows by Berghammer and Patterson, with a brace of infield outs, scored Tulsa's first run in the sixth. A cluster of three hits produced another Tulsa marker in the seventh, while Guy Sturdy's drive, which cleared the wall in center, netted the Lubricators their third and final tally in the eighth.

Manager Marty Berghamer singled his way on in the ninth but the Tulsa pilot grew too venturesome on the bases and was nipped on a double play which set the oilers back on their heels for the last putout of the day.

LINKS START IN THIRD.

Our Links got under headway in the third, when Ted Pillette's first safe knock of the string of three he clouted during the afternoon set up the pins for results at the run station. Free passes to Blenkiron and Swanson loaded the bases and Ted glided over the plate when Zwilling hit to short, forcing Swanson at second. Blenkiron tried to advance on the play and was winged out on a double killing.

The fourth inning was delightfully productive from a Lincoln standpoint. Three markers floated over on bingles by Gunther, Pillette and Blenkiron, an error by Sturdy contributing to the rout of the Oilers.

Manager Dutch slammed a three sacker against the concrete wall in center by way of prying off the lid in the fifth and the Links leader skipped home when Lewis bluudered a bouncer by Strawberry Bliss. Dutch inaugurated the seventh with a sock for two sacks and sped to third when Pezdirtz was tossing out Bliss at first. Gunther was whacked by a pitched ball, Bloodgood was interjected to run for the manager and crossed the plate on a successful double steal which advanced Gunther to second. Gottleber delivered in the crisis, punching a single past short and Gunther rounded up at the home station. Gunther's safety, Haley's infield out and Gottleber's safe thump scored Gunther in the ninth. The score:

With the Links

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

The geek who had the hunch that Dutch Zwilling's days of baseball usefullness were over, pulled a "solid rock." In the three-game series at the Tulsa yard, Dutch was up eleven times and socked the Spalding apple for seven safe clouts.

George "Strawberry" Bliss' moans undoubtedly can be heard from here to Fairbury. The strawberry-thatched swatsman from the capital of Jefferson county failed to pole a hit during the Tulsa series.

Gus Sturdy, guardian of the first corner for the Oilers, is Tulsa's mainstay with the war club. His record for the three games is seven hits in twelve times up. Two of his drives were homers and four were good for two bases each.

Verne Blenkiron, the "Charlie Paddock" of the Gear league, swiped two bases on Rego yesterday. This Rego fellow, who came to the Oilers from the St. Louis Browns, is rated in Tulsa as the league's classiest backstopper.

Marty Berghammer, Tulsa manager, lugs the pepper bag for the Oilers. He is in the thick of every play and has his outfit in hustling, yet it is the conviction of the writer that the Tulsa club will have to be strengthened materially in the batting department if it gets any place in the race. Marty fielded nine chances without a semblance of a miss yester day, but marred his exhibition by an apparent effort to spike "Goose" Gottleber, sliding into third in the ninth inning.

The Goose wanted to have it out with Marty right there, but the players of the two clubs interposed and the peace was not fractured.

Although spanked for twelve hits, Ted Pillette was effective in the crisis of the conflict and aided materially toward winning his own game by cracking out three line singles. Ted had excellent control, issuing a pass to but one Tulsa batter.

The Links' only error was a fumble on an easy roller by Gunther in the eighth, following Sturdy's homer. The bobble put Pillette in a hole, as Rego came through with a two-sacker. Bloodgood raced back to the concrete wall in center and dragged down Pezdirtz' skyscraper for the third out.

..Manager Dutch plans to pit his trio of southpaws—Jim Keenan, Jim Aydelott and Stanley Achenbach—against the Indians in the three-games series getting under way at Oklahoma City Saturday. Five of the Indians most dependable swatters swing from the port side of the plate.

Casey, former Nebraska leaguer at Norfolk, did the pinch-hit act for the Oilers in the seventh, delivering a hit which factored in the scoring of Tulsa's second run.

News of the signing of these two Nebraska mat artists was greeted with delight by state sports writers who have been hoping for just such a match.

The two have met but once. Several years ago Stecher threw Pesek in two out of three falls but his followers have always maintained Pesek would win if a return match was held. Since that time, however, the two have seemed to avoid such a match.

Fitz Took His K. O. Count in Prosaic Style

BY AL DEMAREE.

Bob Fitzsimmons' knockout of Jim Corbett at Carson City was far and away the most spectacular thing he ever did, adn Fitz was the most spectacular knockerout of 'em all.

Fight followers were always extremely curious to know how Fitz wouldl fall if he ever got the finishing blow. Their curiosity was satisfied the night Jim Jeffries trimmed Fitzimmens at Coney Island. He fell flat on his back and never wiggled a toe during the count.

Fitz made many a one of them turn somersaults and do other freak falls when he was winning, but when he himself was knocked out he fell in quite a commonplace and prosaic manner.

Damaged Optic Keeps Callahan Away From Ring

CHICAGO, April 17.—(AP)—Shuffle Callahan, the southpaw welterweight who climbed off his furniture truck to flatten Johnny Mendelsohn, Morrie Schlaifer and Bobby Barrett in the order named, will be unable to pull on the leather for at least six weeks as a result of his disastrous encounter with Tommy Freeman in Cleveland ten days ago.

Oculists treating Callahan today advised him to remain out of the ring until his vision returns to normal. Consequently engagements at East Chicago next Friday night and a week later in Omaha have been cancelled. Callahn claimed he was unable to see clearly after the first round of his match with Freeman, asserting his eye had been damaged as a result of a lace on his opponent's glove.

Kuck vs. Hauser Weight Feature At Drake Relays

DES MOINES, Ia., April 17.—(I. N. S.)—While the only exhibition carded for the edification of fans at the Drake relays next week is that to be given by Charley Hoff, Norwegian pole vaulter, officials of the meet are expecting John Kuck of Kansas state teachers college to give something of an extemporaneous exhibition.

Kuck makes his bow in the shot put, javelin and discus throws. And he does all of the events in neat form. Kuck in practice is reported to have several times surpassed the world record heave of 51 feet for the shot put. When he isn't playing with the iron pellet he trys his skill with the javelin and the discus, getting excellent distance with both. In the latter he will be pitted among others against Clarence "Bud" Houser of California, who holds the world record.

EXTENDED GAME MAY BE COSTLY

Critics Fear Extra Innings In Opening Game May Hurt Big Train.

Claim Bad Judgment To Send Veteran Extra Route So Early.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, April 17.—(I. N. S.)—Having duly attended to the formality of casting the laurel upon Walter Johnson's master-piece in the opening game, the boys today began to hurl sweet spirits of sumac at the performance. They alleged that the incident hurt Johnson more than it did the Athletics as the hypocritical father said to his chastised son.

One critic even went so far as to predict that Johnson's fifteen scoreless innings in the biting cold of Tuesday was a monument faux pas that would fore-shorten his career. This gentleman was pleased to see the end not too far away. Others merely intimated that that affair couldn't possibly do this veteran of nineteen seasons any more good than a mouthful of carpet tacks.

SOME CAUSE FOR FEAR.

There would seem to be some basis for the apprehension. The writer remembers the incident, if not the name, of the young pitcher with the Athletics some years ago who was permitted to go 18 innings against the Phillies in a spring exhizition game. He never recovered and neither did Danny Murphy who was in charge of the club that day. Daniel, indeed, was in semi-disgrace with Connie for some years thereafter.

Jack Coombs, was one of the greatest pitchers of his day or any other but his maturity was delayed by a matter of several years. On September 1, 1906, he engaged in a twenty-four inning game with the first Joe Harris and spent the next several seasons in recovering. Harris never did.

Coombs was young, wonderfully strong and destined for greatness in spite of this early handicap.

CADORE AND OESCHGER.

Leon Cadore and Joe Oeschger pitched the record contest of twenty-six innings in Boston May 1, 1920 and few ball games thereafter. Neither was able to laugh off the after effects of their performance.

The attempt might have enjoyed more success if the game had been played later in the season when their arms were stronger. Johnson's effort was made two weeks earlier and in a temperature possibly twenty-five degrees colder. It also might be mentioned that he is nine years older than were the Cadore and Oeschger of 1920 and about seventeen years older than the Coombs of 1906.

These facts might serve to answer the argument that Johnson couldn't possibly do himself as much harm in fifteen innings as another man could in twenty-four or twenty-six.

Rommel, his opponent, seems able to live the incident down with better effect as he is ten years Johnson's junior. He throws the knuckle ball and it is by no means easy on the biceps. But as for that, Johnson, himself, no longer can breeze along as he did in his salad days when he threw the ball by the batters. He has to use plenty of stuff and that kind of thing takes its toll on the arm.

IDEAL WEATHER FOR K. U. RELAYS

Fast Track Forecasts Some New World Records at Lawrence Meet.

LAWRENCE, Kas. April 17.—(A. P.)—Ideal weather and a fast track early today prepared the way for assaults on several world's records at the Kansas relays here this afternoon.

With nearly 1,000 athletes entered, including Charles Hoff of Norway, world's pole vault champion, and Adrian Paulen, Dutch middle distance star, there was promise that one or two new world marks might be hung up.

The meet offers Hoff his first opportunity since arriving in America to try f r a new outdoor record.

The six university relay events were expected to bring out the very strongest competition.

On the basis of performance this season, Kansas is favored to win the quarter mile relay and Illinois the half mile event. Iowa's fast one mile quartet should put up a strong battle in the mile relay.

Mound Duels Feature Of Opening Games In Major Loops.

CHICAGO, April 17.—(AP)—Pitchers, young and old, continue to furnish exceptional performances in the major baseball leagues.

Yesterday August Johnson of Detroit, recruit from Fort Worth, held Cleveland to four hits and won his battle while the veteran, Urban Faber, limited the St. Louis Browns to five. The White Sox obtained only five off Roberson, Jonnard and Girard, but one of them was a triple by Recruit Tom Gulley in the first with the bases full, giving Chicago a winning margin.

Grover Cleveland of the Chicago Cubs allowed four safeties but lost the verdict as Lucas likewise was stingy, granting only five. Johnson and Sothoron of the St. Louis Cardinals held the world champion Pirates to four hits and won.

BUCKY IS BANISHED.

In the American league, Washington and Philadelphia engaged in a heated combat which finally brought banishment to manager Harris of the Senators in the ninth for objecting to decisions. Washington won 4 to 3.

The New York Yankees captured their first series of the year by downing Boston, 3 to 2, although outhit. Herb Pennock kept the bingles well scattered. Ira Flagstead veteran outfielder, added three safeties to his collection and now has made eleven in three games.

Cleveland gathered its three runs off Johnson in the first inning with hits by Jamison and Speaker in the first inning and two errors by O'Rourke. After that the rookie was invincible while his opponent, Shaute, was wild in the third. In that inning Harry Hellman cleared the bases with a double while the Tigers were scoring five runs to win the game. There was no scoring thereafter.

FABER IN FINE FORM.

Gulley's triple in the first gave the White Sox a lead that was too much for the Browns with Faber going well and Chicago won, 5 to 1, their third successive victory.

The champion Pirates went down again when Sheehan filled the bases in the ninth, hit a matsman and allowed Mueller to single. The score was 3 to 2, giving the Cardinals a 3 out of 4 decision on the series.

The day saw the Phillies winning streak broken after three straight, the Braves winning 6 to 5.

Steady mound work by Jack Scott gave the Giants another victory and the series against Brooklyn. The Dodgers rallied in the ninth, but fell one run short of a tie when Jackson, Frisch and Kelly inserted a fast double play.
